

Parks, Recreation, and Open Space Master Plan

At the Tuesday, May 27 City Council meeting, Kyle City Council unanimously approved the community-driven Parks, Recreation, and Open Space (PROS) Master Plan.

Developed through extensive community engagement, the PROS Master Plan addresses the city's rapid population growth, evolving needs, and an increasing demand for inclusive and accessible outdoor spaces. The plan builds upon the 2016 version and establishes a clear path for enhancing quality of life, preserving natural assets, and supporting sustainable development.

The PROS Master Plan sets a strategic framework through five core goals.

- Dynamic and Inclusive Community: Delivering accessible, equitable spaces and programs for all.
- Balanced and Connected System: Building a cohesive network of parks, trails, and public spaces.
- Flourishing Nature Experience: Protecting ecosystems and integrating nature throughout the system.
- Vibrant and Prosperous Destination: Positioning parks as key contributors to economic development and quality of life.
- Sustainable Resources: Strengthening management, maintenance, and operational resilience.

Key recommendations include expanding trails, upgrading existing parks, adding indoor/outdoor recreation opportunities, and identifying diverse funding strategies. For a closer look at the key recommendations, see the City of Kyle Parks, Recreation and Open Space \(PROS\) Master Plan Fact Sheet.

The PROS Master Plan will serve as a 10-year guiding document for park and recreation planning. It was developed by measuring the existing system against community needs, national standards and growth projections.

The planning process, launched in August 2024, included public meetings, surveys, pop-up events, and a detailed needs assessment.
